

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Chapter 1. Introduction	1
Zanzibar History, Slavery, and Abolition	10
Culture and Community in Urban Zanzibar	20
Ethnicity, Identity, and Belonging	28
Being and Becoming an Arab: Citizenship, Consumption, and Race	41
Methodology	56
Chapter 2. Dressing Up: Clothing, Class, and Gender in Post-Abolition Zanzibar	64
Dress, Class, and Ethnicity in the Nineteenth Century	67
Dressing Up: New Identities and New Clothes	74
Islam, Veiling, and Respectability	85
Gender, Politics, and Cultural Change	96
Conclusion	108
Chapter 3. “The Land Is Ours! Why Should We Pay Rent? ”: Land, Law, and Housing in Colonial Ng’ambo	110
From Kiungani to Ng’ambo	113

---

Hut Tax, Ground Rent, and Resistance to World War I	129
Transformations in Urban Land Tenure and the Early Years of Ground Rent in Ng'ambo	133
Growing Tensions over Ground Rent	140
The Ground Rent Strike of 1928	148
Chapter 4. The Music of Siti binti Saad: Creating Community, Crafting Identity, and Negotiating Power through Taarab	169
Taarab and the Creation of a Zanzibari Identity	171
Background on the Band and the Role of Religion in Their Rise to Fame	175
The Creative Context of Siti's Songs	182
Continuity and Change in the Constellations of Colonial Power	185
Gender and the Colonial Courts	195
"When you wanted me I stayed with you / Now you do not want me I have no need for you": Love, Sex, and Rejection between the Wars	209
Conclusion	223
Chapter 5. Colonial Politics, Masculinity, and Football	226
The Early Years of Football in Zanzibar	228
The Politics of Sport in Colonial Zanzibar	240
Ethnicity, Nationalism, Masculinity, and Community: The Multiple Meanings of Football in Island Life	248
Conclusion	264
Chapter 6. Conclusion	265
Notes	273
Glossary	331
Bibliography	335
Index	365

Illustrations

Figures

Fig. 1.1. Ng'ambo from Stone Town, with creek at high tide, 1903	21
Fig. 1.2. Stone Town from Mnazi Mmoja, with creek at low tide, c. 1900	23
Fig. 2.1. A male Arab of Zanzibar wearing a kilemba, kanzu, waist scarf, jambia, and short jacket	65
Fig. 2.2. Male slaves wearing winda made of merikani cloth	66
Fig. 2.3. Female vibarua employed as construction workers wearing kaniki, merikani, and early kanga designs	67
Fig. 2.4. A suria of Seyyid Said wearing a barakoa and shela, accompanied by a young Nyasa slave attendant wearing merikani	69
Fig. 2.5. Seyyida Salme Said (later known as Emily Ruete) wearing marinda pants and a barakoa	70
Fig. 2.6. Aziza, the niece of Governor Seyyid Suleiman	71
Fig. 2.7. A Zanzibari Arab wearing a kilemba, joho, and jambia	72
Fig. 2.8. A Swahili man of Zanzibar wearing a kofia	72
Fig. 2.9. A Swahili family from Mombasa	73
Fig. 2.10. A Swahili woman of Zanzibar wearing an ukaya	73

Fig. 2.11. Swahili women wearing kangas and grinding grain	79
Fig. 2.12. Women wearing kangas and men wearing kanzus and kofias in Zanzibar, c. 1910	87
Fig. 2.13. Zanzibari women wearing buibuis	88
Fig. 2.14. Zanzibari women wearing buibuis in the ghubighubi style and marinda pants	89
Fig. 2.15. Siti binti Saad	95
Fig. 2.16. Swahili woman of Zanzibar wearing a kilemba, kanga, and marinda pants	102
Fig. 2.17. Seyyida Salme Said (later known as Emily Ruete)	103
Fig. 2.18. Amina Seif Othman (BiAmina Mapande), nyakanga (leader) of mkinda initiation, during a performance of ndege	104
Fig. 3.1. A street in Ng'ambo, c. 1900	114
Fig. 3.2. Swahili women at a well	136
Fig. 3.3. Ng'ambo, c. 1920	137
Fig. 3.4. A street in Ng'ambo and a woman wearing a kaniki	142
Fig. 5.1. Malindi Sports Club, 1950, with the Rankine Cup	227
Fig. 5.2. Miembeni Sports Club, 1952, with the Jinnah Cup and the Rankine Cup	239
Fig. 5.3. African Sports Club, 1952	249
Fig. 5.4. Arab Sports Club, 1949, with the Kettles-Roy and Zeigler Cup and the Jinnah Cup	253
Fig. 5.5. Kikwajuni Sports Club, 1943, with the Kettles-Roy and Zeigler Cup	254

Maps

Drawn by the author
1.1. Western Indian Ocean and East African Trade Routes	11
1.2. Zanzibar and Selected Towns	12
1.3. The Growth of Urban Zanzibar	17
3.1. Nineteenth-Century Land Control and Major Wakf Properties	119
3.2. Control of Land in Ng'ambo, c. 1928	138
3.3. Housing in Urban Zanzibar, c. 1939	151
5.1. Selected Urban Neighborhoods, c. 1940	232