

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Foreword	xi
Note on Spelling and Maps	xiii
Introduction	1
The Scope of the War	3
The Anticolonial Leadership	6
War, Colonialism, and Anthropology	10
The Ethnic Puzzle	14
Intentions and Structures	17
Colony, Postcolony, Hegemony	20
The Volta-Bani War in Historiographic Discourse	23
Our Sources	28
CHAPTER 1
The West Volta in the Nineteenth Century	30
The Invention of the Village in the West Volta	31
Ritual Ties among Villages	37
Defensive Leagues	39
The Institution of War	46
CHAPTER 2
The Muslim Houses of the Volta and the Beginnings of French Occupation	51
Wahabu	53
The Zaberma Allies	57
Al-Kari of Buse	60
The Beginnings of French Occupation in Northern Volta	63
French Expansion to the South	68

CHAPTER 3
An Incomplete Colonial Occupation	74
The Territorial Organization	74
Models of Native Society	76
Native Heads of State	80
“Ruling over the Footpaths”	84
CHAPTER 4
Before the Storm	89
The Colonial Administration in Dedougou:
Maguet and Haillot	89
The Marabout “Conspiracy”	91
The Affair of the Guards	98
The Conscription Campaign of November 1915	103
Maubert and Chiefly Policy in the Cercle of Bobo-Dioulasso	108
CHAPTER 5
The Call to Arms	120
Planning the War	120
The League of Bona	127
War against the Cruel: Two Narratives	132
CHAPTER 6
The First Victories of the Anticolonial Party	141
The Two Battles of Bona	142
The Siege of Bondokuy	148
Heading for the Great Clash	158
Yankaso	161
A Fallen Divinity	168
CHAPTER 7
Terror as Strategy: The War in the Cercle of Dedougou	173
The Molard Column: Constitution, Armament, and Strategy	174
Responding to Local Military Strategy:
Molard’s First Campaign	179
Wiping Villages off the Map: Molard’s Second Campaign	197
A Turning Point in French Strategy and First Submissions	205
Samo Country	209

CHAPTER 8

The War in the Cercle of Bobo-Dioulasso	213
The Social Contours of the Opposition	218
A Series of Disconnected Sorties	222
The Repression in the Sambla-Tusia Zone	226
The Hecatomb of Boho	229
Final Confrontations and their Sequel	231

CHAPTER 9

The Pilgrim and the Shrines: The War in Koutiala, San, and Bandiagara	236
Resistance and Accommodation in the Early Colonial Period	238
The Anticolonial Leadership in San and Neighboring Cercles	242
The Early Anticolonial Success (February to March 1916)	244
A Stoppgap Reaction: The Carpentier Column	247
The Cercle of Bandiagara	251
Ants into Warriors: Tradition and Islam in the Attack of Koro	257
The Simonin Column in the Cercle of San	259
Molard's Campaign West of the Muhun River (July 1916)	265
The Pacification (July to August 1916)	267

CHAPTER 10

East of the Volta: The War in the Cercle of Ouagadougou	271
The Gurunsi at the Time of Conquest	272
The Marabout Affair in Koudougou	273
The Beginnings of the Movement among the Gurunsi: The Leadership	276
Preparation for War	282
First Phase of the Gurunsi Conflict (January to March 1916)	284
Second Phase (March 7 to May 12 1916)	288
The Cadence Column (May to August 1916)	291
Conclusion	297
Military Occupation	302
The Native Command	305
The "Impulse to Revolt"	306
The Creation of Upper Volta	307
The Aftermath of the War	311

APPENDIX

Letters Used as Evidence in the Muslim Conspiracy Trials	315
Notes	323
Glossary of Colonial Terms	353
Archival Sources	361
Bibliography	371
Index	385