

Contents

List of Figures	ix
Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction Buried beneath Imperial History The Search for “Odeziaku”	1
Chapter 1 Forging Ahead The Secret Gentleman of Ardwick Green	21
Chapter 2 The Palm Oil Trader’s View	33
Chapter 3 Fragments of Oscar Wilde in Colonial Nigeria	56
Chapter 4 “Uranian” Love in West Africa	75
Chapter 5 The Politics of Naming Igbo Perspectives on Stuart-Young	89
Chapter 6 The Strange Toleration of Stuart-Young in the African-Owned Press of Nigeria	108
Chapter 7 A Class Apart “Johnny Jones” of Back Kay Street	119
Chapter 8 The Production of a Poet Stuart-Young’s Verse and Its Readers	138
Conclusion “Tales That Lie Awake”	159
Notes	171
Bibliography	213
Index	227