

Contents

Acknowledgments

vii

Introduction

Africanfuturism, Development, and Humanities

1

1. Afrofuturist Ecolinguistics

Redefining the “Science” of Science Fiction

25

2. Birthing the Future

Métissage and Cultural Hybridity in Francophone African Women’s Writing

49

3. Child Soldiers

Reinscribing the Human in a Culture of Perpetual War

78

4. Alienation, Estrangement, and Dreams of Departure

Emigration and the Politics of Global Inequality in

(and out of) Francophone Africa

109

5. “We Don’t Need No Education”

Alternative Pedagogies and Epistemologies in Bassek Ba Kobbio’s Sango Malo (1990) and Le Silence de la forêt (2003)

163

6. Paradis Artificiels

The Lottery of Global Economies in Djibril Diop Mambety’s Le Franc,

Imunga Ivanga’s Dôlè, and Fadika Kramo-Lanciné’s Wariko

190

7. Arguing against the Shame of the State Sony Labou Tansi's Ecocritical Womanism and Gaiacene Planetaryity	217
---	-----

Conclusion Toward an Afrofuturist Ecohumanist Philosophy of Experience	247
--	-----

Notes	263
-------	-----

References	315
------------	-----

Index	327
-------	-----